LBJ Appeals For Restraint

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson today appealed anew to capital and labor to keep wage and price rises in the U.S. "within reasonable bounds."

At a press conference in his office the president said: "I recognize that problems are bound to arise in a period of full employment."

He said that since 1960, prices have risen 10 per cent, wages 17 per cent and profits 83 per cent.

"We want to keep them all as stable as possible," he said. Johnson said the inflationary rise has been much less than in some other countries. He said that recently he was talking to "the distinguished leader" of an unnamed country who expressed the wish that he could keep inflation in his country down to the levels of the United States.

He noted that he has ordered an inquiry into the rise in medical costs, including doctors' and hospital bills. These, according to the labor department, have gone up 3.4 per cent in the last six months.

The questioning also ranged into politics, and Johnson was asked whether he had an explanation for a poll which, the questioner said, indicated democrats would rather have Kennedy as the 1968 presidential nominee than Johnson.

Amid laughter, he replied, "no, I have no explanation."

On the war in Viet Nam, he reiterated he is willing to "go to a conference anywhere that might be helpful."

Interpol Asks For RCMP Aid In West Berlin Kidnapping

MONTREAL (CP) — The RCMP is investigating the movements and recent associates of Regina Klewer, whose four-year-old daughter, Audrey, was kidnapped Tuesday in West Berlin.

RCMP Supt. J. R. R. Carriere said today the Mounties are making their investigation at the request of Interpol, the international police organization.

Regina Klewer, 28, has been on the staff of the West German military logistics department at Montreal International Airport for the last three years.

She is personal secretary to the department's head, Major Kurt Obenbach.

Canada Gives Geneva Pledge On 'Peaceful' Nuclear Jobs

GENEVA (Reuters) — Can-powers should compensate for the ban by contracting to carry out peaceful nuclear jobs, other countries under international observation.

The U.S. reason for barring Canadian disarmament negotia-tions on "peaceful" nuclear jobs was that there could be clear weapons should be used for weapons or from using nuclear blasts to adapt for such use.

Development of such nuclear and is in a position independent device to develop a device for effect would mean peaceful nuclear explosions are being used. The Canadian government has repeatedly declared its opposition.

Burns said Canada is fully aware of the danger of nuclear war and is committed to the goal of nuclear disarmament.

Climbers Criticized

CHAMONIX, France (Reuters) — Maurice Herzog, a former French minister for youth and sport, today criticized two West German climbers rescued Tuesday after a week-long ordeal on a tiny ledge high in the French Alps.

A 25-year-old fellow German, Wolfgang Eggle, was killed trying to rescue the pair.

"Untrained and directly and visibly threatened by bad weather, there were nine chances out of 10 that their ascent would end in tragedy," Herzog said in a statement published here.

Herzog, an experienced mountaineer, proposed a safety plan for the Alps.

He said a special meteorological unit should be set up in Chamoniix to receive weather photographs of the Alps every 90 minutes from the Tyros satellite.

Whenever the weather deteriorated the unit would send out danger signals compelling climbers to stop their climbs. Any climber ignoring the signal would be legally responsible for any accident.

Herb Capozzi Quits Lions

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia Lions today announced the resignation of Herb Capozzi, general manager of the Western Football Conference Club since 1957. Capozzi is a Social Credit candidate in the Sept. 12 B.C. general election.

Club president Alan Eyer said at a press conference that Capozzi's resignation was tendered and accepted last week but Capozzi will stay with the club until Dec. 31.

The club is setting up a committee to seek a replacement.

Capozzi, 41, has been nominated Social Credit candidate in Vancouver Centre. He was raised in Kelowna, home of Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

Man Followed Lead Of Biting Canine

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — City patrolman Boyce McCall says a man he sought to arrest for drunkenness, followed the lead of his dog—and bit him. McCall testified in city court that as he arrested the man, "his dog bit me on the leg."

McCall said he got him on his back and the man nearly bit his finger off.

MALE TARGETS GET THE POINT

LONDON (Reuters) — Mosquitoes prefer men, British doctors say.

They like them in their youthful prime and are less attracted to women, children and aging males, says a report to the London Clinic Medical Journal.

Gatekeeper Accused

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 38-year-old Courtenay man was remanded to Aug. 30 when he appeared in magistrates court in suburban Burnaby Tuesday charged with capital murder.

Florian Gerard Lohoux, a gatekeeper employed by Mount Washington Copper Mines, is accused of the capital murder of Dudley George Miller, 62, a B.C. Forest Service worker.

RCMP said Miller was found beaten to death earlier this month in a watchman's shack about 10 miles northwest of Courtenay on Vancouver Island. They said they believed the weapon used was a small weighing scale.

No money had been stolen, police said.

Marines Slay 211 Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. marines fought their way into a Communist troops training camp 20 miles southwest of Da Nang today while others, farther north, battled a force of North Vietnamese regulars. The Americans were reported to have killed 211 of the enemy.

Their own casualties were termed light.

Several hundred marines attacked the training camp, where guerrillas and North Vietnamese Army men mingled. A spokesman estimated the enemy killed about a battalion—perhaps 600 men—and said the Communist fire was extremely heavy.

A radio report from Lt. Col. Victor Olanes said his men burned 10 buildings and destroyed a large store of rice at the camp. A large cave and tunnel complex was uncovered.

The marines counted 44 Communist dead.

The other action developed in a battle for Communists along infiltration routes south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

Marines fought a heavy 12-hour battle with North Vietnamese troops overnight.

It is the third time this week that a general has asked for retirement.

A defence ministry spokesman said Maj. Gen. Guenther Pape has requested to be relieved of his command because he disagrees with a defence ministry decision allowing soldiers to join a transport workers labor union.

The four-star chief of the nation's armed forces, Gen. Heinz Trettnar, asked Tuesday to step down because of the ministry's decision.

The disclosure by the defence ministry of the 58-year-old Trettnar's request came a day after the ministry suspended the air force chief, Lt. Gen. Werner Panitzki, for criticizing the government and its purchase of the air force's crash-prone F-104C Starfighters.

Plane Crash Kills B.C. Men

HOPE, B.C. (CP) — Two Vancouver Island men were killed Tuesday when their light plane slammed into a hill 35 miles east of here in Manning Provincial Park.

Dead are Robert Bruce Sutherland, 23, and George Douglas Honeysett, 23, both of Courtenay. Their bodies were recovered Tuesday.

RCMP investigating at the crash scene, 200 yards above the Hope-Princeton Highway in a rugged, burnt-off area, said the Piper Cub aircraft should not have been in the area according to its flight plan.

Little Progress At Rail Summit

Soviet Hurls Luna Aloft

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union launched a 3,615-pound unmanned space laboratory toward the moon today, apparently to join the U.S. Luna orbiter in photographing earth's closest space neighbor from near orbit.

The exact goal of the Soviet satellite, Luna XI, was not immediately disclosed.

But from the sparse details the Russians released it was clear that if all goes well with Luna XI it will be orbiting the moon as its American counterpart now is doing.

The main purpose of the station is the further testing of systems of an artificial moon, Sputnik (satellite) and scientific explorations in near lunar space," said Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

This indicated Luna XI would orbit the moon at a close range rather than land on the lunar surface.

A previous Soviet satellite, Luna X, orbited close to the moon but did not transmit pictures back to earth.

The Tass announcement said nothing about pictures. Soviet space announcements normally do not disclose the purpose of a flight until it has been accomplished.

Luna XI is about five times as heavy as Luna X, indicating it carries more equipment, possibly camera equipment.

Army Vs. Politicians Crisis Mounting In West Germany

BONN (AP) — The growing row between West Germany's generals and politicians swelled today into a major crisis with the announcement that the two-star commander of the country's third military region has asked to be retired.

It is the third time this week that a general has asked for retirement.

A defence ministry spokesman said Maj. Gen. Guenther Pape has requested to be relieved of his command because he disagrees with a defence ministry decision allowing soldiers to join a transport workers labor union.

Steel Workers Reject Offer To Make Them Highest Paid

HAMILTON (CP) — Possibility of a strike at Canada's largest steel plant looms again after 11,000 Steelworkers Tuesday rejected what appeared to be a sure-fire ratification of a contract that would have made them the highest-paid steelmen in the world.

The rejection, on a 4,494-to-3,937 vote, by Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. workers surprised both union and company negotiators who reached the settlement Aug. 17 after 15 days of bargaining.

Veteran mediator Judge Walter Little of Parry Sound, Ont., who termed the settlement the finest he had ever seen, expressed bitter disappointment at the membership vote.

The contract would have given Steelco workers a pay-pension deal estimated at 66.7 cents an hour over three years and cost this company $2,000,000.

A key factor in the rejection appeared to be union members' discontent with the treatment of 51 men disciplined by the company after a recent violent five-day wildcat walkout. The walkout, to protest the slowness of earlier negotiations, put before the settlement offer put before the workers for ratification Tuesday.

SOME FIRED — Some of the 51 men were fired. Earlier this week, a leaflet was circulated among Steelco workers saying that if the new contract was accepted it would be in exchange for the livelihood of the 51 men.

Immediately after the voting result was made public, the union called Ontario Labour Minister Robinson to intervene and mediate explorations in near lunar space," said Tass, the official Soviet news agency.

This indicated Luna XI would orbit the moon at a close range rather than land on the lunar surface.

The minister left to attend a cabinet meeting, reporting that both sides "have now come to grips with the practical problems."

President Donald Gordon of the CNR and Ian Sinclair of the CPR declined to comment on the brief joint session. They, too, left the talks. Mr. Sinclair returned to Montreal and Mr. Gordon bound for his cottage a half-hour from Ottawa on the Quebec side of the Ottawa River.

Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy minister of labor, spent another 90 minutes with the union negotiating team. He is the department's top labor relations expert and chief behind-the-scenes mediator.

Mr. Wilson said the union team had split into four groups of four men each. Two of the groups were to meet him later today and the other two Thursday morning.

He said separate talks with the management side would be held tonight. CNR Vice-President Duncan McNeill, labor relations executive, stayed behind for these discussions.

However, Mr. Wilson said there were no immediate plans yet for face-to-face bargaining between the parties.

Strike Deadline Draws Nigh For Nation-Wide Walkout

OTTAWA (CP) — A last-ditch effort at settling the thorny railway wage dispute made only minor progress today, with less than 48 hours remaining until the deadline for a countrywide walkout.

Labor Minister Nicholson held a half-hour preliminary session with about 50 railway, union and government officials to discuss the ground rules to be followed in the mediation procedure.

The mediation is expected to continue right through until the strike deadline of noon regional standard times Friday.

The minister left to attend a cabinet meeting, reporting that both sides "have now come to grips with the practical problems."

R. C. Smith, chief negotiator for one of the non-operating union groups, said there is no proposal yet for a bargaining session with railway executives.

"We're doing what we're being told to do by the mediator," he added.

Mr. Smith's group was to return for the first of the afternoon sessions with Mr. Wilson. The shoperat unions, headed by Tom Read of Montreal, were slated next.

Mr. Wilson scheduled a 9 a.m. meeting Wednesday with the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

He said the body was identified as that of Leo Blais, 55, of no fixed address.

Mr. McDonald said that with the help of Vancouver and Toronto police he had located Peter Blais, the brother of the dead man, in Toronto.

PAYING COSTS — He said he had told the brother what had happened and said the Vancouver coroner's department would pay all transportation and funeral costs and the body would be buried in Toronto either today or Thursday.

The coroner said the younger Blais was an out-patient while the other had been admitted to the emergency ward.

He said somehow hospital officials had confused the files of the two men and then sent off a telegram to the younger man's parents saying he was in a coma. A subsequent telegram informed them of his death.

Under the rejected settlement Hamilton steelworkers would have been earning $2.92 an hour, one cent more an hour than is earned by U.S. steelmen, now the highest paid in the world.

In addition to the 11,000 workers at Steel's main works here, the union bargains for 4,000 Steelco employees in fabricating plants at Toronto, Hamilton, Guelph, Brantford and Edmon-ton.

The contract at the main Hamilton plant normally sets the pattern for the others.

Carpenters' Pay Boost
'Would Slice Home Grant'

R. K. Gervin, spokesman for British Columbia contractors, said Tuesday Premier Bennett's recently promised $500 home buyers grant would be wiped out if provincial carpenters were successful in their demands for a 37 1/2-hour work week. "If the building trades were successful in this demand to receive eight hours pay for 7 1/2 hours work, we estimate an additional $500 cost to the average $16,000 house, irrespective of higher wages or fringe benefits," said Mr. Gervin in Vancouver.

A team investigating Saturday's $10,000,000 fire at the Rayonier of Canada (B.C.) plant in New Westminster, said Tuesday there is a "strong possibility" the blaze was started by children. Provincial fire marshal Basil Nixon said after receiving a report from the investigators that all other possibilities have been eliminated. Mr. Nixon said that earlier suggestions that children had started the fire were "pure speculation." But now investigators are almost positive children started the fire outside the Scott Paper Company plant, he said.

William Malcolm Lovitt was fined $15 Tuesday in Halifax for driving with an invalid driver's licence. He said he forgot to renew his licence. Lovitt works for an insurance company and part of his job is to stamp insurance papers with the warning: "Don't forget your driver's licence."

Mayor Garvin Dezell of Prince George has come under fire for using a "back-door approach" to annex 24,000 acres of surrounding territory to the city's present 6,500 acres. "There is practically open rebellion here," said George MacAndrew, chairman of a special steering committee. "Instead of the mayor taking our recommendations," he said, "he's completely ignored them."

Princess Alexandra and her husband, Angus Ogilvy, announced Tuesday that their daughter, born July 31, will be named Marina Victoria Alexandra. The child is named after its maternal grandmother, Princess Marina, and Queen Victoria.

Patricia Brown, 22, appeared in Edmonton court today and was remanded until Aug. 30. Bail was set at $5,000 property or $2,500 cash, and it was understood she would be released from custody today. It was her second appearance in court since being charged with disposing of the body of a child with intent to conceal the fact that its mother had been delivered of it. Three babies' bodies were found in a food freezer.

William Hawrelak, former mayor of Edmonton, announced Tuesday he will be a candidate for mayor in the Oct. 19 civic election. Mayor Vincent Dandridge has announced he will seek re-election.

The British Columbia Federation of Labor urged the Board of Industrial Relations in Vancouver Tuesday to increase the provincial minimum wage by 75 cents to $1.75. "There can be no doubt the more-or-less floor rate existing today is woefully inadequate," said Bay Haynes, secretary-treasurer of the federation.

Sam Hasman Construction Ltd. Monday presented plans for an $11,000,000 coliseum to Edmonton city council. The city proposed the coliseum be built at an airport site rather than in the civic centre. Mr. Hasman said his company will build wherever the city wants it, but it's to the city's financial advantage to have it in the civic centre.

At Cardston, Alta. Robert Soile of the Fish and Wildlife Department said Tuesday a bear shot and killed was "very likely" the grizzly that mauled Monty Helgeson, 7, Aug. 4. "We can never be positive," he said, "but with the description given, we're pretty sure we've got the animal."

British Columbia army, navy and air force veterans took the city of London, Ont., Tuesday. The search for Clancy O'Brien, 9, of North Vancouver, will continue today in rugged Cariboo bushland near Clinton. Killings
Admitted

MONTREAL (CP) — Roland Leblanc, 28, a Halifax accountant, testified Tuesday he strangled two young Montreal women last week immediately after having sexual intercourse with them.

Leblanc made his statement at a coroner's inquest, and was found criminally responsible for the deaths of Ginette Martineau and Charlotte Doucet, both 20.

The accountant is expected to be arraigned today.

The accountant said he met Miss Martineau in a Montreal nightclub last Tuesday, and said she agreed to spend the night with him for a $20 fee.

The couple went to a downtown rooming house, Leblanc said, where they "had a few drinks and then intercourse. I choked her immediately after."

MEET ON TRAIN

Leblanc said he first met Miss Doucet on a Montreal-to-Halifax train last year.

He said he telephoned Miss Doucet shortly after he left the rooming house where Miss Martineau died. "She sounded real happy to hear from me," he said.

Miss Doucet telephoned him last Thursday to arrange to meet him.

The Halifax resident said he and Miss Doucet had "a few drinks" and then had intercourse. "I choked her immediately after."

Giant Cranes Seek Victims
Of Explosion At Factory

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Giant cranes clawed at the rubble of a wire factory's executive building today in search of three bodies believed buried by a massive explosion.

Two bodies were removed after the blast Tuesday and officials of the Phelps-Dodge Copper Products Corp. said they are certain the death toll would not exceed five.

Unofficial estimates of the loss were more than $5,000,000. Two persons aiding in rescue operations were stricken with fatal heart attacks.

Eighteen persons were injured, three of them critically. Most of the building's 90 employees had left for lunch shortly before the explosion tore into the midsection of the two-story structure.

Some employees had complained in the morning of a gas odor, and two women became nauseated, authorities reported.

Harley Jensen, division manager for Northern Indiana Public Service Co., said the utility had received no complaints of leaking gas at the plant.

Pearson Warns Of Inflation
In Plea For Rail Compromise

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson Tuesday night coupled an appeal for compromise in the railway crisis with a warning that any huge, inflationary wage increases will hobble the country in world markets.

In an 11th-hour bid over television and radio to head off the national rail strike set for noon regional standard time Friday, the prime minister said there must be some increase in wages.

He said the government will introduce legislation to revamp the railway system and enable the companies to know that "reasonable" boosts.

"But we also know that increases in wages must not be so large that they send up costs and prices which will largely offset the wage increases... and seriously threaten Canada's competitive position in world markets."

"Wage increases on a scale that will result in serious inflation will lead inevitably to loss of markets, loss of income, and a return of unemployment."

Mr. Pearson spoke on a country-wide hookup over the CBC and CTV television networks and the CBC's radio networks. About the same time, Labor Minister Nicholson was arranging a mediation meeting for today with company and union negotiators.

On Monday, Mr. Pearson recalled Parliament early from its summer recess to meet Monday, Aug. 29, to deal with the strike if mediation efforts fail and to deal with a bill to revamp the railway system and permit the companies to pay for wage boosts.

The prime minister said in his television address the legislation would be based broadly on the MacPherson royal commission report.

This report recommended freight rate subsidies paid to the railways be gradually eliminated and the companies be allowed to find their natural competitive position in the transportation industry. Eliminating many unprofitable branch lines would be one step towards this goal.

In television interviews following Mr. Pearson's speech, CPR President Ian Sinclair and William Kelly, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said there can be no real collective bargaining in the rail industry if railways are operated as an instrument of national policy.

Since the start of the 1960s rail freight rates have been frozen by law with pay increases covered by government subsidies.

The prime minister indicated this system will be changed in the new legislation.

He said subsidies covering three increases since 1960 now cost the treasury about $100,000,000 annually and they cannot be continued without increasing taxes.

HIGHLY POPULAR ATTRACTION

This is the building that seems to be drawing the majority of visitors in Kelowna: The Okanagan Museum and Archives Association, probably in its last year of operation before the new Centennial Museum is built, drew 7,540 visitors during July. This was about 5,000 more than the 2,826 who visited the museum during the same month a year ago. The museum is on Mill St. and the new building will be adjacent to the library on Queensway.

Telegraphers Set For Friday Strike

Kelowna's two telegraph offices are preparing for Friday's national railway strike.

The Canadian National and Canadian Pacific telegraph offices reported today they would follow instructions given them by head officials in preparing for the pending strike.

Union officials have given Friday as the day for beginning the strike by some 120,000 non-operating employees. A total of 13 men are affected in Kelowna's telegraph offices.

COMBINED FUNERAL

Northern Crash Victim Well Known In Valley

Rev. John Beitel was one of two Pentecostal ministers killed last Thursday in a farewell get-together, when their small aircraft crashed into a mountain in Tweedsmuir Park, about 75 miles south of Burns Lake.

Killed in the same accident was Rev. Bill Rourke Jr., pastor of the main Pentecostal church in Prince George. Mr. Rourke co-pastored the church in Pentiction with his father before taking the Prince George charge. Mr. Beitel pastored the North Prince George church and was well known in the Okanagan, having lived in Vernon, Kelowna and Pentiction.

He was born in Paddockwood, Sask., March 29, 1941, and moved in the same year with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Beitel, to Pentiction, where he received his secondary education. His father pastored churches in Armstrong, Vernon, Victoria, Port Alberni and Chilliwack.

Early in 1961 Mr. Beitel married Rita Galt of Kelowna and settled here, working for Canada Safeway and acting as youth director in Evangel Tabernacle.

It was in 1962 he felt the strong desire to dedicate his life to the Christian ministry and in the fall of that year entered the Western Pentecostal Bible College in North Vancouver, from which he graduated in 1964 with scholarship honors.

In between semesters he worked with the department of highways in Kelowna and was student minister under Rev. Einar Domeij, pastor of Evangel Tabernacle, Toronto. A combined funeral service was to be conducted in Prince George today at 1:30 p.m. Rev. A. Kalamen and Rev. Einar Domeij officiating. A Valley funeral service for Mr. Beitel will be conducted from Evangel Tabernacle in Kelowna, Friday, 10:30 a.m., Rev. Einar Domeij and Dr. Harry Faught officiating.

The following public telegrams will be accepted subject to the following conditions:

1. Full rate day letter and night letter telegrams will be accepted up to midnight local time Thursday, for delivery prior to noon local time, Friday.
2. Cablegrams filed in Canada destined to overseas countries will be accepted up to midnight local time Thursday.
3. Telegrams received during the morning hours of Friday, which have not been delivered by noon local time will be mailed to addressees "special delivery".

Police Radar Works Here

Radar appears to be a lethal weapon in the Kelowna RCMP's arsenal.

An RCMP spokesman emphasized Tuesday the police are more interested in educating speeders than in catching them.

RCMP have no statistics to prove that radar is a deterrent but a spokesman said the use of radar here "probably cuts down the speed of traffic".

At any rate, it proves to be an efficient method of catching speeders.

In July, 1964, before radar was used in Kelowna, there were 27 speeders arrested. In July this year, 106 drivers were nabbed on speeding charges.

The portable radar system was installed in Kelowna in August, 1964.

The one system in use is adequate for the city's needs, the spokesman said. Occasionally ghost cars are used here also in the battle against speeders.

Hotter . . .

Temperatures should climb well into the 90s today in most interior areas.

Skies should be sunny and winds light today and Thursday.

The low tonight and high Thursday at Pentiction: 55 and 90; Kamloops: 50 and 95; Lytton: 55 and 95; Cranbrook: 45 and 90; Castlegar and Revelstoke: 50 and 90.

The high in Kelowna Tuesday reached 87 and the low Tuesday night 48. Temperatures on the same day a year ago were 78 and 62. A total of 18 inches of rain was also recorded a year ago.

Two Alarms For Brigade

Kelowna firemen answered two general alarms today and Tuesday.

Firemen were called to 756 Wilson Ave. at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a small fire in a house. Little damage was reported.

A general alarm at 12:30 a.m. today sent firemen to Ellis St. and Hay Ave. The call was a false alarm.

YOUTH ARRESTED

The Kelowna RCMP arrested a youth Tuesday night and charged him with creating a public nuisance.

The youth, 17, was taken from his home at 10:30 p.m. and charged with creating a public nuisance by playing a loud record of gas.

Jury Attaches No Blame In Death Of City Fireman

A coroner's jury Tuesday attached no blame in the death of Gerald Drachenberg, 27, a city fireman.

Mr. Drachenberg died July 22 as a result of a motor vehicle accident in which he was crushed beneath a firetruck, the jury ruled.

Alfred James Fletcher, driver of the truck involved in the accident, has been remanded without plea to Friday on a charge of driving without due care and attention.

Dr. D. F. Morrow, the pathologist who conducted the autopsy, testified at the inquest that Drachenberg died of asphyxiation.

There were external evidences of small hemorrhages, the lungs were congested and small hemorrhages were evident in the lungs when he performed the autopsy, the doctor said.

Const. G. A. Collins of the Kelowna RCMP, one of the policemen investigating the accident, said he found the fire truck overturned at the bottom of a seven foot embankment.

Const. Collins first spotted the fire truck turning onto Coronation Ave. when he was in a patrol car at Harvey and Glenmore. The patrol car followed. The engine was travelling at a normal rate of speed when the police saw it, he said.

The road was wearing away at the point where the fire truck went over the embankment.

There was "a slight washout" at this point and the road narrowed from 19 feet to 17 feet 10 inches, the constable testified.

Under cross examination, he admitted the washout could cause a vehicle to roll over the bank if the vehicle's wheel hit it.

Const. Albert Malfair, another RCMP member at the scene, said under questioning, Kelview St., for a city road, was in "lousy" condition.

Members of the jury were: Mervyn Olson, Wayne Cooper, John Howard, Gordon Smith, John McGeough and Clifford Bennenwith.

Okanagan Labor Shortage Forecast In News Letter

There may be a labor shortage in the Valley during the apple harvest, according to a horticultural news letter released today.

The labor supply so far has been in balance, but with a good crop of apples expected, a shortage of labor could take place in September, the letter says.

McIntosh apples are generally large and other leading commercial varieties are in the medium range.

The mite problem was held down by cool weather in the early season but with warmer weather in August the problem increased. Generally the control of pests has been good.

Prospects are for a good average tree fruit crop this year. Except for a minor crabapple crop, all crop estimates are higher than last year's production. There are "large" apricot and peach crops but the prune crop was reduced by birds picking blossoms. The peach crop is medium sized.

Bartlett pear sizes were variable this year and much of the crop was on the small side. Prospects are for a good crop of well sized Anjous, the news letter says.

Pear psylla control has been more successful this year than in other recent years.

APRICOTS SMALL

Apricots were small this year because of the 1964 freeze. In some cases, lack of thinning contributed to the size problem.

Apricots, especially Moorpark, suffered heavily this year from twig borer. There was more corymbose blight and ring pox than usual.

A fair prune crop is expected in spite of considerable fruit gumming and dropping. Early prunes are now being marketed.

Peach sizes are variable and more than usual loss from twig borer is being experienced.

An increasing amount of produce is being sold at roadside stands, the news letter says.

Apple Harvest Now Planned

Central and Northern Okanagan fruit growers are preparing for the apple harvest, expected to begin about Sept. 12.

The pear harvest is now under way in the Kelowna, Rutland and Winfield areas.

Harvesting of pole beans is continuing near Vernon with tomato picking expected to begin any day.

A balanced labor demand and supply situation exists in most areas of the interior. The peach harvest is under way and almost completed in Oliver, Osoyoos, and Keremeos and growers are waiting to begin picking McIntosh apples about mid-September.

The Bartlett pear harvest is almost completed near Pentiction and growers there are also preparing for the apple harvest.

More Nominations Set As Polling Time Nears

With B.C. voters due to head for the polls in less than three weeks election interest is beginning to increase in the ridings of south and north Okanagan. The provincial election will be held Sept. 12.

Another candidate, the North Okanagan New Democratic Party standard bearer, will be nominated tonight in Vernon, bringing to four the number of nominations in the two ridings.

The Social Credit Party has nominated candidates in both ridings: Premier Bennett in South Okanagan and Mrs. L. T. (Pat) Jordan in North Okanagan.

Frank Becker has been named the Liberal hopeful in North Okanagan.

The New Democratic Party in South Okanagan will hold its nominating convention Thursday in Kelowna.

Dates for the South Okanagan Liberal nominating convention have not been revealed and Progressive Conservative Party officials have not yet announced if they will field candidates in either riding.

DECISION DELAYED

Provincial Tory officials have said they will run candidates in selected ridings but a final decision was delayed when provincial party head Stuart Fleming became ill last weekend and returned to his Vernon home.

As many as four people are expected to seek the North Okanagan NDP nomination at 8 p.m. today in Vernon's Coldstream Motor Hotel. Reported to be seeking nomination are James Macdonald, James McAnulty, Vernon insurance agent Jack Dykes; Vernon-born and educated school teacher Len O'Neil, of Salmon Arm and Vernon alderman William Halina.

Party officials during the weekend were reported to have begun planning to "fight in this riding to win".

The deadline for nominations is next Monday.

Harvey Wilson of Summerland is the returning officer for South Okanagan and Robert Thomas of Vernon is his North Okanagan counterpart. Otto Leboe of Kelowna is an assistant to election clerk Harry Hackman of Summerland in South Okanagan.

Increased voter interest is reflected in the number of people registering to vote in South Okanagan. Due to redistribution, which placed several hundred former South Okanagan voters in the North Okanagan riding the number of eligible voters in this riding has been reduced from 17,714 in 1963 to 16,824 this year. However, this year there were some 1,100 more voters registrations than before the last provincial election.

Among areas removed from the South Okanagan riding were Naramata, Okanagan Centre, Winfield, Ellison and Glenmore North, representing some 2,139 voters.

SLIGHTLY LOWER

Voter interest seems to be slightly lower in the North Okanagan, if registration figures are any indication. The registrar of voters, Bill McGruder, reports a 1966 eligible voter total of 10,736, compared with 13,349 in 1963.

He says the drop is due mainly to former North Okanagan voters being switched to the Shuswap riding in the redistribution of provincial ridings. Under the redistributed riding system voters will elect candidates in 55 ridings, compared with 52 in 1963.

A complete list of polling stations will be carried in The Courier in the near future.

Voter registration is still being conducted throughout the province but those who register now will have to wait until the next election and will not be eligible to vote Sept. 12. Registrations for this election closed Aug. 15.

Pollution Program Result Revealed Today At Oliver

Results of the Okanagan pollution control program will be presented to representatives of the South Okanagan Union Board of Health for the first time today.

Delegates attending the board's third quarterly meeting in the Oliver Health Centre, will learn the results of the outfall sampling program, water quality and the echo sounding program.

The report follows weeks of intensive study by health officials at the Summerland Research Station. The officials have been studying causes of pollution and advancing methods to control it.

All suggestions from the Summerland station are proposed standards only, not legislation.

Other resolutions to be considered at the meeting include fluoridation, pollution, the annual meeting of the association, boards of health and the sex and family education program.

Reports will be given by medical director, Dr. D. A. Clarke; dental director, Dr. A. S. Gray; mental director, Dr. F. E. McNair; and social welfare director, Miss Bennett.

Ald. J. W. Bedford, one of the Kelowna representatives originally scheduled to attend the meeting, was called out of town early today and is now unable to attend.

Ald. Bedford is the chairman of the Okanagan Watershed Pollution Control Council.

Kate Travis Service Held

The funeral service for Mrs. Kate Estelle Travis was held Monday from Day's Chapel of Remembrance, Capt. Hector McDonald of the Salvation Army officiating.

Mrs. Travis, 86, died Sunday in the Kelowna General Hospital.

She was born in Fort William, Ont., received her education there and moved to Regina shortly after. Mr. and Mrs. Travis were married in Govan, Sask., in 1906.

The couple homesteaded in Govan for many years before moving to the Peace River district.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis resided in Kelowna from 1930 to 1942 before moving back to Regina, where Mr. Travis died in 1960.

Mrs. Travis is survived by one son, Spencer; and eight grandchildren.

FOREST FIRE HAZARD RATING

HAZARD RISING

The forest fire hazard is beginning to climb higher in the Kelowna ranger district. Forest Ranger H. C. Howlett today said as long as warm, dry weather continues to dominate the Okanagan the hazard will likely continue to climb. The fire hazard early today stood between moderate and high.

The city's centennial rock and floral display on the south side of the city hall is drawing interest from tourists these days. Many photographs are being taken of the colorful design pattern.

ting and polishing. A concession booth will also be operating on the grounds to provide the youngsters with pop and candy.

The hall stage ceiling was next discussed. V. Cousins offered to donate the paint and do this painting. The decorating of the hall in a Harvest theme was next on the agenda and committee to take charge of this was formed. Mrs. G. Smith, Mrs. V. Cousins and Mrs. M. Goetz.

Asian Lands 'Led By Revolutionaries'

BANFF, Alta. (CP) — The wrong men have been leading many of the countries of Asia since their independence, a former Burmese diplomat said Monday night.

James Barrington, former Burmese ambassador to Ottawa, Washington and the United Nations, told the Banff conference on world development that many Asian countries have been led since independence by men who are basically revolutionaries. He said that while revolutionaries played an essential role in the independence struggles, they are often unfitted "emotionally or psychologically" for the subsequent task of administering a nation.

The revolutionaries have made poor administrators. Mr. Barrington said this has been a factor in the lack of progress many Asian countries have made in improving the welfare of their people since independence.

"In most of Asia, I would say, the material plight of the population is worse than it was at the moment of independence," he said.

Mr. Barrington said a new generation of leaders is coming to power in Asia—in some cases military men, in others men trained as administrators. These men could be expected to do a better job of leading their countries out of economic backwardness and of communicating to the affluent West their needs in areas such as economic aid.

Mr. Barrington said more finance is needed in Western aid programs.

The pride of Asian leaders might well be hurt less if aid were channelled through international agencies instead of being dispensed on the primarily bilateral basis used currently.

Ivan Head, professor of international law at the University of Alberta, participated with Mr. Barrington in the session.

In his address, Prof. Head said the principal Western error in post-war relations with Asian countries has been failure to listen to what Asians want.

"The West has sought for centuries to remake Asia in its own image," he said. This kind of approach is winning only resentment.

SPORTS SPOTLIGHT

By RON HOLLAND

Returning members of the Kelowna Little League team heaped praise upon the people of Victoria for the wonderful hospitality they received during their stay at the provincial Capital.

Bill Robson, president of the Kelowna Little League, was especially astounded when the billets who housed the Kelowna players offered to launder the clothes of the players if they were lucky enough to win the championship. As it turned out this offer was never taken up.

It looks from here as though the conduct of the Kelowna team probably brought on a great deal of friendliness offered by the Victoria people.

Jim Tang, sports editor of the Victoria Colonist who provided the little league stories for the Courier, said the team's conduct was among the best of any team at the tournament. Their conduct was exemplary and the boys were mannerly at all times.

Coach Jack Hatch was extremely proud of the performance by the team, he and Gord Smith led to the Canadian championships.

Jack said "there was little to choose between the four teams at the playoffs, Quebec was as good a team as Windsor and with some breaks, we might have been playing Sherbrooke in the finals instead of Windsor.

Kelowna will undoubtedly be heard from again. There are many good little leaguers on their way up the ladder and it will take only time before another Kelowna team is again fighting for the Canadian championship. Who knows maybe next time they will make it all the way to Williamsport for the little league World Series?

Two coaches from the Okanagan Track and Field club are in Guelph for the annual Legion Track and Field Clinic. Al Bianco of Salmon Arm and Roger LaFontaine of Rutland are attending the clinic under the auspices of the Legion.

The clinic has attracted coaches from all over the world.

Attending the clinic from England is Jim Alford whose specialty is long distance running. Coming from the United States are Harold Connolly, who once held the world's hammer throw record, Art Walker who specializes in the long jump and triple jump and Fred Wilt who is a former long distance runner.

Other instructors at the clinic include: Harry Jerome, British Empire Game gold medalist from Finland, Jacques Bergougnon of the French Olympic team.

The Legion has done a great deal in the promotion of track and field in Canada and perhaps Canada's fine showing at the BEG can be attributed to a certain degree to the Legion's track and field development program. I know the growth of track and field in the Okanagan has been enhanced by the Legion's willingness to part with dollars, which goes to the Okanagan Track and Field Club.

Wild Pitch Gives Islanders Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An eleventh-inning wild pitch by Vancouver's Diego Segui gave the Hawaii Islanders a 5-2 win in the first game of the Pacific Coast League baseball series Tuesday.

In other PCL games, Spokane defeated Seattle 6-2, Tacoma topped Portland 6-4, Denver beat Indianapolis 5-2, and San Diego 4-3. Oklahoma City 5-2, Phoenix at Tulsa was postponed because of rain.

At Vancouver, with one out in the top of the eleventh, Hawaii's Chuey Cotter doubled off the left field fence and went to third when pinch hitter Jim Saul grounded out. Barry Shetrone came to the plate and Segui cut loose with a low pitch which catcher Woody Huysie could not handle and Cotter raced home. Spokane led its victory over Seattle with four unearned runs in the second inning. With one out, Don Williams walked and was forced out at second by Hector Valle. Thad Tillotson was safe at first when Seattle pitcher Andy Messersmith bobbled his grounder. A double by Dick McLaughlin, singled by Darrell Griffiths and a triple by Tom Hutton gave the Indians all the runs they needed.

Tacoma's Norm Gigon slugged a three-run homer in the fourth to power the Cubs over Portland. Cub hurler Ernie Broglio got the win after getting ninth-inning help from Charlie Hartenstein.

Ontario Successfully Defends Canadian Junior Golf Title

BRANDON (CP) — Medalist

Peter Turner of Toronto got consistent support from his team-mates Tuesday to propel Ontario to its second consecutive interprovincial team title in the Canadian junior golf championships.

Turner was good for 37-74, giving him a 144 in the 36-hole qualifying round for the individual match play title. His mates—Gar Hamilton, Jr., of Toronto, Ken Trowbridge of Brampton and Wayne McDonald of Oakville—each turned in 77 to give Ontario 305 for the day and 602 for the tournament. British Columbia finished with 306 and a 36-hole total of 615.

Saskatchewan settled for third spot at 618, mainly on the strength of a 38-55-73 by Prince Albert's Ted Rich that left him just a stroke back of Turner at 145.

From there the team battle thickened, with Alberta at 620, Manitoba 621, Quebec 625 and Nova Scotia 628. New Brunswick - Prince Edward Island, with 726, and Newfoundland, with 728, trailed.

British Columbia's move to stop Ontario from taking its fourth championship since the team matches began in 1959 crumbled when only one player—John Morgan of Victoria—improved on his opening - day score. Morgan had 75 to go with an 81 Monday.

His mates were generally consistent—Vancouver's Ross Ellison got his second 75, Tom Morison of Port Hammond was up one to 76 and Doug Stewart of Vancouver added two strokes for an 80.

Saskatchewan, in second place eight strokes behind Ontario after Monday's play, had only Rich's 73 to offer Tuesday.

The Saskatoon trio of Lawrence Bamford, who took his second 79, Rick Flock, up five to 80, and Rick Maguire, up two to 81, all had problems as B.C. moved into second place and Alberta threatened for third.

Jason Paakkunen of Port Arthur, Ont., who anchored Manitoba with a 72 Monday, soared to 80 Tuesday on the 35-35 par 70 Brandon Golf and Country Club course.

Paakkunen's 72 had left him sharing second place Monday with Rich and Trowbridge and was the only impressive early score for the host team.

Third in the medalist race were defending champion Ian Thomas of London, Ont., and Nova Scotia champion Graham MacIntyre of New Glasgow.

Carlings Stave Off Elimination Threat

Kelowna Carlings stayed alive in the finals of the Kelowna and District Softball League with a 4-2 victory over Rutland Rovers, Tuesday night at King's Stadium.

Kelowna's victory gave them their first win of the series while Rutland has won two games and are one game away from the title.

Tuesday night's contest was one of the best softball games seen at King's Stadium during the current season.

Dennis Casey and Annie Rath, the two pitchers, threw excellent games, Casey gave up only six hits in winning while Rath yielded eight in a losing cause.

Neither man struck out many of the opposition batters but they seemed to be in complete control throughout the game.

Rutland was undoubtedly disappointed that they had lost the game after winning two straight. But the Rovers had their chances.

In the sixth inning Rutland filled the bases only to have the last three men go down in order. They had another chance in the eighth inning but again they weren't able to bring the men across the plate.

Carlings wasted little time in getting on the scoreboard in the first inning when Jack Leier cracked a home run over the centre field wall.

Rutland tied the score in the second inning when Bobby Campbell became a one-man wrecking gang. Campbell reached base on a walk and went to second when Boris Kabanoff attempted to pick Campbell off base and Ted Weyss juggled the throw. Bobby stole third and sauntered home on a passed ball.

Kelowna sewed up the game in the third inning when they pushed two runs across the plate. Ted Weyss walked and Lorne Shockey singled to place men at second and third after a double steal. A double by Norbert Korthals to left field sent both men scurrying across the plate with Shockey scoring the winner. Carlings added an insurance marker in the ninth when Rutland became rattled and didn't appear to know that they were playing a ball game.

Korthals reached first on an error and scampered all the way to third when Hawkins dribbled a single through the infield. Rutland, who was just beside themselves, threw the ball to each base before realizing Korthals had crossed the plate for the fourth Carlings run.

The fourth game in the final series is scheduled for tonight at Rutland Centennial Park at 6:30. A Rutland win will end the series whereas a Carlings victory will force a fifth game to be played Thursday night in Kelowna.

Provincial Election Could End Capozzi-B.C. Lions Association

VANCOUVER (CP) — The

Province says Herb Capozzi will probably resign as general manager of the B.C. Lions at the end of the 1966 season if he is elected in the Sept. 12 provincial election.

The morning newspaper said Capozzi will make the announcement at a press conference called by the Western Football Conference club today for 10 a.m.

Capozzi, 41, is a Social Credit candidate in the Vancouver Centre riding.

Capozzi, born of Italian-Canadian parentage, was raised in Kelowna, home of Premier Bennett. He says he has been interested in Social Credit since Mr. Bennett became premier 14 years ago.

Capozzi holds degrees from the University of B.C. and the University of Italy.

He formerly worked as a laboratory assistant at UBC research analyst with Shell Oil Co. at Calgary, director of Italian service for the CBC International Service and program director at CBMT Television, Montreal.

Windsor Loses Opening Game

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP)—

Right-hander Zach Venegas kept the hitting well spaced and struck out 11 batters Tuesday as Sacramento, Calif., won the opening game of the 1966 Little League world series from Windsor, Ont., 3-1.

Venegas was matched in a tight pitching duel with Windsor's Rickey Chase for the first three innings of the six-inning contest. A home run by Sacramento's first baseman, Dean Stotz, broke the scoreless deadlock in the fourth.

Stotz was the batting hero for the Californians, knocking in their third run with a single in the top of the sixth.

It was the sixth inning that proved to be Windsor's downfall, as the Canadian committed two errors.

Leading 1-0 going into the sixth, Sacramento's Danny Masters hit a ground ball to third baseman Eddie Whited and advanced to second when Whited over-threw first.

Venegas singled and Masters scored when leftfielder Tom Lazar let the ball get through him. Stotz' single scored Venegas.

Both pitchers went the distance. Venegas did not walk a man, and Chase issued only one free pass.

His mates were generally consistent—Vancouver's Ross Ellison got his second 75, Tom Morison of Port Hammond was up one to 76 and Doug Stewart of Vancouver added two strokes for an 80.

Saskatchewan, in second place eight strokes behind Ontario after Monday's play, had only Rich's 73 to offer Tuesday.

The Saskatoon trio of Lawrence Bamford, who took his second 79, Rick Flock, up five to 80, and Rick Maguire, up two to 81, all had problems as B.C. moved into second place and Alberta threatened for third.

Downtrodden Stamps Battered 19-9 By Bombers

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers battered the injury-weakened Calgary Stampeders 19-9 Tuesday night to grab first place in the Western Football Conference.

Kenny Ploen and Ken Nielsen teamed for the two touchdowns before 20,817 fans that propelled the Bombers to victory number four in five matches—good for a two-point lead over Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The hard-luck Stampeders, mired in fourth place with two points in five games, saw another player fall victim to injury.

Bill Gaskins, Calgary's fine defensive halfback, suffered a severed achilles tendon early in the third quarter. The same injury had already knocked veteran Lovell Coleman and Ted Woods from action.

After the game, the rookie from Washington State said he was back-peddling when "I felt something give. There was no one near me."

Coach Jerry Williams stood in the middle of the dressing room muttering: "I just can't believe it." The injury is not a common one, making the loss of three strong players for the season even harder to take. The Gaskins injury probably clinched matters for Winnipeg. It forced Williams, whose club was trailing 13-8 at the time, to move Lu Bain from offence to defence, leaving Calgary with a woefully weak backfield.

LISKE BATTERED — It made things easier for the tough Winnipeg defence which drove in to drag Calgary signal-caller Peter Liske down for losses seven times. Ernie Pitts, Paul Robson and Al Miller were the major Bomber threats.

Calgary had a big zero in rushing in the second half—40 years in the game. The pass, which got them their touchdown by Terry Evanshen in the fourth minute of action, was the Stamps only threat.

Liske completed 13 of 26 attempts — one was intercepted by Miller after being knocked down by Robson—for 217 yards and most of his club's 13 first downs. Evanshen caught four for 71 yards, Len Sparks an equal number for 63 yards.

Giants Win, Pirates Lose San Francisco In First

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Ollie Brown is still 531 home runs behind Willie Mays, but it doesn't seem that much to Juan Marichal today.

Brown, San Francisco's surprise centre-fielder Tuesday night, walloped a three-run homer, propelling surprise starter Marichal to his 18th victory as the Giants whipped Cincinnati Reds 7-3 and regained the National League lead.

Their fourth straight victory, coupled with Pittsburgh Pirates' 5-4 loss to Philadelphia Phillies, lifted the Giants one game ahead of the Pirates in the race.

Brown, a light-hitting rookie with five major league homers to his credit, was shifted to centre field when manager Herman Franks decided to rest Mays, who had smashed his 537th career homer three days ago.

For 3½ innings, Marichal appeared to be in trouble on Deron Johnson's bases-empty homer in the second and Leo Cardenas' two-run shot in the top of the fourth put Marichal behind 3-2.

THEN CAME BROWN — Then, in the last of the fourth, Jesus Alou singled across the tying run and Brown, batting seventh in the lineup, sent the Giants ahead to stay with his three-run blast off Milt Pappas.

In Tuesday's other action, the third-place Los Angeles Dodgers shaded Atlanta Braves 8-7.

St. Louis Cardinals blanked Houston Astros 3-0 on Bob Gibson's three-hit and New York Mets trimmed Chicago Cubs 4-1.

Chance, McDowell Regain Form

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Dean Chance and Sam McDowell, two of the top hurlers in the American League, had managed to win two victories between them in the last two months and the case looked ominous.

Then, just as suddenly as they faded, the two pitchers reversed field and now they look like themselves again.

McDowell signalled the end of the dry spell with a three-hit shutout against Chicago White Sox last Friday. Then the Cleveland Indians left-hander came back with a 2-1 six-hit victory against American League-leading Baltimore Orioles Tuesday night.

The Lyes-Eric is the skipper — have won three of the five races sailed so far and lead the 19 other entries with 93½ points.

Another Toronto crew, skipper John Wright and Colin Rabbett, are second with 88½ points.

Simon Bruce - Lockhart and Len Gilday of Sudbury, Ont., are third with 79 points.

Western crews placed well down the ladder. Points accumulated by Western entries: Phil Dockerill, Bill Buck, Vancouver 57; Bob de Roos, Richard Ley, Kelowna, B.C. 55; Don Matthews, Brian Matthews, Calgary 39; Alan Drinkwater, Ken Burns, Vancouver 37; Jeff Arand, Melanie Williams, Victoria, B.C. 37.

B.C. WINS RACE — BELOELL, Que. (CP)—British Columbia made it two in a row Tuesday by winning the second day's run of the 450-mile Montreal-New York Canadian centennial canoe pageant.

Alex Bulley of Durban, coach of the South African team, also said the AAU meet left his swimmers "flat," and British Empire Games coach Ted Simpson of Vancouver said many Canadians may not be at their best.

Members of the powerful Santa Clara, Calif., club were favored to break standards in perhaps five events, but their star swimmer, Don Schollander, reported: "We're all tired."

The 20-year-old Yale student, who collected three world titles in the American AAU championships at Lincoln, Neb., last week, said the swimmers were weary from the "tremendous pressure" of the championships.

Both pitchers went the distance. Venegas did not walk a man, and Chase issued only one free pass.

His mates were generally consistent—Vancouver's Ross Ellison got his second 75, Tom Morison of Port Hammond was up one to 76 and Doug Stewart of Vancouver added two strokes for an 80.

LOITERING LAW

QUITE IMPARTIAL
AURORA, Ont. (CP)—Teenagers are the target of Aurora's new anti-loitering law but one of the first victims was the mayor's wife and son.

Mrs. William Davis and her son, Robert, were standing with some friends on the main street Sunday when they were asked to "move along" by Constable Lowell McClellan.

"The bylaw states they shall not loiter and we must enforce it," said Police Chief William Langman.

Weekend crowds of teenagers prompted the new bylaw, proposed by Councilor Richard Blingworth, chairman of the police committee and passed by council last Monday.

"How would the chief like his wife to be moved along like I was when she's stopping to talk with friends," asked the mayor's wife.

Her husband promised to bring the matter before council.

The bylaw wasn't drawn up just for a set of teenagers, said Chief Langman.

The bylaw covers everyone and is not a restriction on equal rights.

U.S. Excursions to North

Smell Like Open Warfare

SAIGON (Reuters) — The American-backed struggle to suppress Viet Cong guerrillas in South Viet Nam has grown in the last month to look increasingly like open war with North Viet Nam.

Raiders on sensitive spots, particularly fuel dumps, within a mile or two of city centres in the North, have been followed by attacks on the demilitarized zone between North and South.

The zone was established by the 1954 Geneva agreements on Indochina and is policed by Canadian, Indian and Polish officers. U.S. officials claim it is being used for military purposes by the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong.

The U.S. was quick to disavow talk by South Vietnamese Premier Nguyen Cao Ky about invading the North, but the conflict has nevertheless moved toward a more direct and damaging confrontation with the Communist state.

The North Vietnamese ambassador to East Germany was reported to have stated bluntly last week that his country was at war with the United States. From military reports issued by the U.S. command in Saigon, South Viet Nam's capital, it would often appear so.

On the ground, American marines claimed to have killed more than 800 North Vietnamese soldiers in a two-week campaign just south of the North-South frontier.

The bombing of the demilitarized zone followed the allegation that an assault division of troops had crossed it instead of using the so-called Ho Chi Minh Trail said to run through neighboring Laos.

In contrast to the growing involvement with North Viet Nam, American and South Vietnamese troops saw little action against the Viet Cong, who struck where they chose in South Viet Nam during July.

South Viet Nam's internal political situation is relatively quiet but observers say tempers may rise again with the approach of elections in September for an assembly to draft a new constitution.

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada regards violation of the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam as a grave development and is pressing for full investigation, it was learned here.

CAMELOT REVISITED

King Arthur's Trail Traced

CADDURY, England (Reuters)—The 1,300-year-old riddle of who King Arthur really was seems closer to solution after recent finds by a team of British archeologists on the site of an ancient castle here.

Relics unearthed in the ruins of Cadbury Castle, 10 miles from Arthur's reputed burial place at Glastonbury Abbey, in Somerset, give strong support to the widely-held theory that Arthur was a 6th century Romano-British general killed in a last-ditch stand against Saxon invaders.

Now the Camelot research committee, headed by the well-known archeologist, Sir Mortimer Wheeler, has announced plans for a five-year excavation on the castle site where 40 volunteers this summer found a 5th century bronze cloak, pottery, and metalwork.

Their finds point to Cadbury Castle as one of the strongholds defended by Arthur and his band of cavalymen in 12 successful battles before their defeat by the invaders.

After decades of searching and supposition, archeologists are confident that they are near to establishing the geographical site of the legendary Camelot, ruled by Arthur and his knights, whose exploits fired the imagination of both medieval and modern writers.

This is more likely to be Camelot than any other site that has been advanced," said Leslie Alcock, senior archeologist at the University of Wales. He supervised this summer's successful dig.

The proposed excavations, costing an estimated $30,000 to $50,000, may confirm a widely-held view that a daring general who taught his soldiers advanced tactics of warfare and built a castle that was a model of the Arthurian legend.

Unemployment Spectre Grows

As U.K. Firm Fires 1,050 Men

LONDON (AP)—The spectre of growing unemployment haunted Britain's trade union movement today as the Labor government's economic squeeze began tightening on industry.

Imperial Chemical Industries, Britain's biggest private employer, aroused the fears by firing 1,050 workers at three plants producing nylon fibre.

It was the largest reduction by any company since the government imposed drastic credit restrictions and froze wages and prices five weeks ago. The measures were designed to stabilize the economy and restore overseas confidence in the pound sterling.

ICI's action spelled more trouble for Prime Minister Wilson in his already losing battle to win support from Britain's 7,500,000 unionists for the government's economic measures.

The company blamed high taxation and the credit squeeze for slowing the expected growth of its nylon division. ICI employs a total of 126,000 workers in all its widespread activities.

Leaders of the Transport and General Workers Union described the dismissals as "calculated" and said they would call on the company to withdraw them. Talk of possible strike action was heard among militant unionists.

5,000 WENT BEFORE Since the squeeze began last month about 5,000 workers—mostly in automobile plants and other consumer industries—have been either fired or put under notice of dismissal because of factory reductions.

Another 6,000 have been told they may have to work part time which would reduce their take-home pay.

Union leaders have been assured by Wilson's administration that it will foster employment as a deliberate instrument of policy.

The total of unemployed in Britain was 345,500 at the last count. Government officials have said they do not expect the number to rise above 450,000 as a result of the economic measures.

Next month the giant Trades Union Congress meets in Blackpool for a crucial vote on whether to support the wage freeze, which will stay in effect for the rest of this year with a six-month period of "severe restraint" to follow.

The TUC executive has reluctantly agreed to go along with the freeze, but it seems likely to be over-ruled in the general vote by 34 affiliated unions at the conference beginning Sept. 5.

Saudi Arabia Aids Stricken Turkey

JEDDAH, Saudi Arabia (AP)—Saudi Arabia has given £70,000 pounds ($210,000) in aid for the victims of Turkey's disastrous earthquake, it was announced Monday night.

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp announced today the government's new $500,000 bond issue, offered Monday, has been oversubscribed.

He said in a statement that in addition to a $75,000,000 issue of 5 1/2 per cent long-term bonds being fully taken up, subscriptions to two shorter-term bonds have been allocated in this way:

—$175,000,000 of 4 1/2 per cent bonds due Oct. 1, 1967.
—$250,000,000 of 5 1/2 per cent bonds due Oct. 1, 1969.

A diplomatic source said it is important now to carry out an undertaking, agreed to by the three commission members, that steps be taken against any violation of the demilitarized zone.

The difficulty, however, now is to determine the nature and extent of any violations, and then consider how the tripartite supervision of the zone can be made more effective.

An external affairs department source said the department has received no first-hand report of strafing of villages in the demilitarized zone.

The department had no word to support a report by the Soviet news agency Tass that a Canadian delegate on the commission "hid in a ditch" during a raid by U.S. planes.

City Labor Dispute Is Finally Settled

The settlement of the dispute between the City of Kelowna and its employees has been resolved and it is a relief to know that there will be no disruption in city service for the next two years.

To obtain a settlement both parties made some concessions. The city had accepted the conciliation board's unanimous award but the union had turned it down as unacceptable, despite its own representative on the board being party to the award. A strike vote was subsequently taken and strike notice given to the city.

Negotiations, however, continued with both parties being anxious to avoid the final and final walkout step. For its part, the city departed from the scale recommended by the conciliation board and agreed to a four cent increase scattered over the two years. On its part the union made concessions in some areas, including the omission of certain key men from the contract.

Under the circumstances, the final agreement would appear reasonable. It does not depart a great way from the original conciliation board proposal, and it does allow both parties some element of the important "face-saving."

One aspect of the negotiations which followed the strike notice is interesting. The union committee negotiated without the professional organizer. The committee was composed of city employees. This undoubtedly contributed much to the successful resolving of the dispute.

While the majority of the city employees voted for a strike, it is difficult to believe that the majority were in favor of a strike. The strike vote has become a weapon placed in the hands of the union negotiators and many members cast an affirmative vote never expecting that a strike will actually be called.

In this case, it may be assumed that many of the city employees did just that. Most of them appreciate that a strike by them would not be taken against city council, but against their neighbor across the fence, their friend down the street, the people and the taxpayers of the city with whom they live and play. A walkout by civic employees is something quite different from a strike in an industrial plant.

It may well be that this was the attitude which enabled the locally composed negotiating committee to finally and amicably reach agreement with the city team.

Whether or not this was a contributing factor, the happy situation is that now this distressing labor dispute is amicably settled for another two-year period. In the jubilation, however, a thought should be spared for the Forgotten Man, John Taxpayer, who during the next two years must find a couple of hundred thousand dollars to foot the bill.

Things Don't Change Much As Viet Nam War Drags On

MY THO, South Viet Nam (AP)—The war in the Mekong Delta appears to have become a way of life.

The scene has changed so little over the years that you get the impression the war could go on forever.

And well it might, American advisers declared, unless U.S. troops move into the delta in force. This verdant region below Saigon is the only part of Viet Nam where no American troops operate.

The unchanging nature of the delta war becomes obvious driving down from Saigon past the endless paddies and through bullet-marked villages.

There is a fleeting impression that things are changing for the better.

This feeling soon is dispelled. "The seminar," the nickname for the U.S. military advisory mission billet for the 7th Vietnamese Division, outside the Mekong River city of My Tho, is being rebuilt.

Viet Cong recoilless rifle fire blew holes in the walls a few weeks ago.

MINES A HAZARD

And among American advisers, more are killed by road mines than anything else, another constant factor in the delta.

Even the statistics are virtually unchanged. In 1964 an estimated 20,000 Viet Cong lived among the 5,000,000 Mekong Delta population. The figure now is 18,950, plus 14,450 full-time guerrillas.

In 1965, the Viet Cong lost 10,000 killed in the delta, officials say. But these deaths apparently did not affect the size of the Viet Cong army.

The South Vietnamese Army has three full infantry divisions in the delta. But they don't seem to have learned much, even though their American advisers are as enthusiastic as they ever were. Everywhere the advisers will tell you: "We know they are learning now. My boys are good boys. They can win."

You recall similar enthusiasm years ago. A senior adviser to the 7th Division said in 1962 that the South Vietnamese Army was reluctant to engage the enemy, and that when an engagement began the enemy was permitted to get away. That still applies.

PROGRAMS FAILED
Five pacification programs have been launched in the delta. Four of them have failed, the fifth is just getting under way.

U.S. officers believe four U.S. divisions would be needed to handle the Mekong Delta. The U.S. high command considers the delta to be the major Viet Cong recruiting area and the major enemy granary.

A Vietnamese general is quoted recently as saying: "The war began in the delta. It will end there."

The commander of the Vietnamese 4th Army Corps which covers the delta, Lt. Gen. Dang Van Quang has made known his opposition to having American troops in the delta. He believes the use of foreign troops would be an ideal propaganda vehicle for the Viet Cong.

But without U.S. troops, the delta war might go on and on.

The 7th Division area south of Saigon is a typical delta region. It covers four provinces with a total population of 1,300,000 and stretches from the Cambodian border, through the Plain of Reeds and over to the South China Sea.

U.S. advisers and Vietnamese division officials say 35 per cent of the division area is under government control, 35 per cent under Viet Cong control and the rest of no-man's land.

Each of the four provinces has a Viet Cong battalion, a total of 10,000 hard-core troops in the 7th Division area.

FEW TROOPS AVAILABLE
Ranged against them are 40,000 government soldiers and police. The 7th Division has 12 infantry battalions plus two ranger battalions. But at best only five of these battalions are available for combat at any one time because of security commitments, guarding outposts or assisting in the pacification program.

The regular infantry had only 35 military operations in the first seven months of this year, each one an average length of less than two days. The regular army rarely has a night operation, despite years of American training. At night only the Viet Cong and a few local militia troops operate.

The kill ratio in the delta has remained constant — two Viet Cong dead to every government soldier. So far this year government forces in the 7th Division have lost 573 weapons and captured 737.

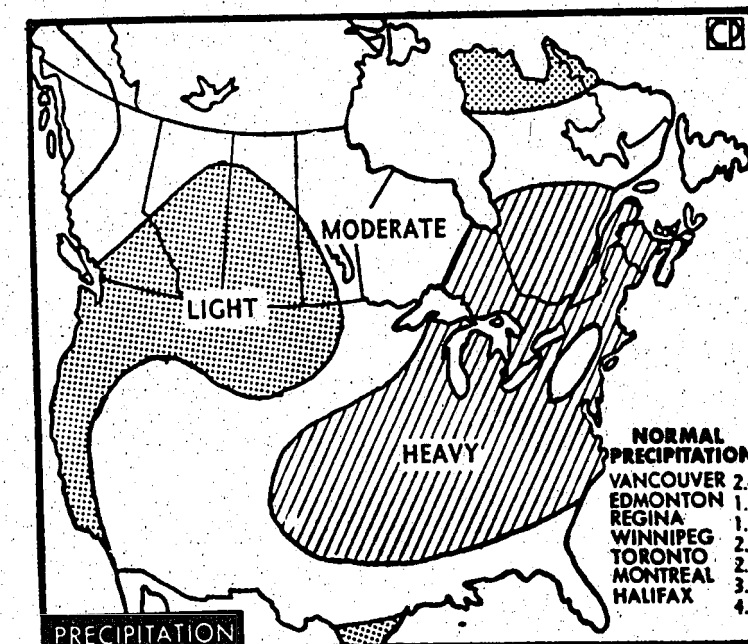

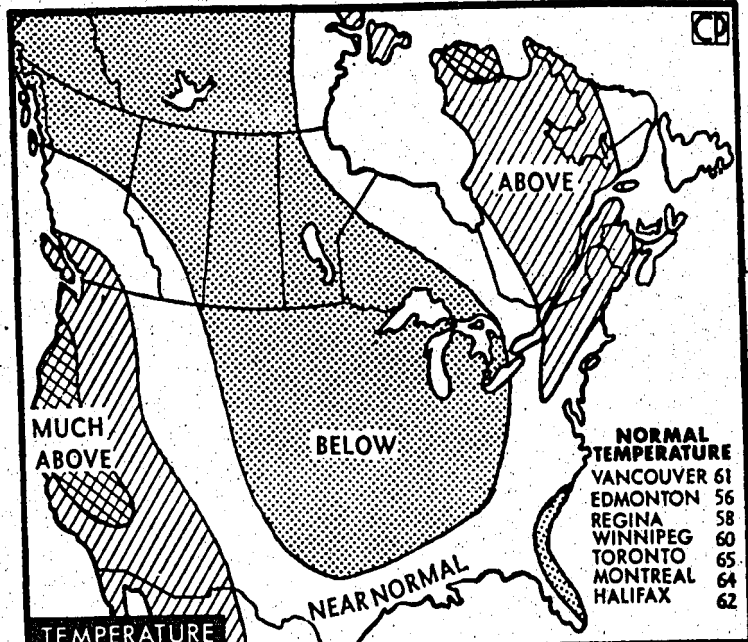

Government forces are beset by jealousies and rivalries. There are numerous armed groups, starting from the national police, the oldest institution of law in the delta, ranging through the regular army, the popular and regional forces known as roughs and puffs, the special forces battalions, the counter-terrorist groups and so on.

Pay differences create animosity. A counter-terrorist team soldier makes 4,500 piastres (about $43) a month, a popular force soldier 1,500 piastres ($12.85).

The war continues to be fought mainly at the village level, with terrorism met by terrorism, hand-to-hand fighting, vendetta style.

A recent captive from the Viet Cong 514th Battalion said he was one of three men who had survived in the battalion in the last two years. The survival rate is as low in some government ranger battalions. And the war goes on and on.

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Weight Problem And Sleepy Too

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

I have always had a weight problem and now, just 50 years of age, I have been trying to cut down on food but find myself sleepy and with no energy. I sleep morning, noon and night.

Medication doesn't seem to help reduce my appetite any more, and at times I find my hands shaking badly especially late in the afternoon, that I have to eat something to steady them. Eating something helps definitely. What do you make of all this?

MRS. E.M.S.
I'd like to examine you, ask some questions about what you eat, find out just how much you weigh and make certain tests before trying to answer.

But since I can't, I wish you'd think seriously of having your own doctor do that. Weight, as I've often said, is a matter of eating more than you use up, but at that point of reducing often steps become simple. It can be extremely complicated at times.

You may have a metabolic problem, particularly an underactive thyroid which can cause sleepiness and listlessness. A metabolism test is one way of finding that out.

A diet inadequate in protein can also be a factor, which is why I would want to know what you eat. (Note remarks later about hypoglycemia, too.)

Or for a quite different answer, the whole thing could be psychological. It happens to a lot of people. They are used to eating. Food satisfies emotional needs. Limiting food upsets them emotionally until they learn how to change their outlook on life and dinner plates.

Your shaking hands might be related to the medicines you take to curb your appetite. It is not an unusual reaction.

Some folks don't tolerate these drugs well, because of nervousness or other problems. Or another possibility exists. Episodes of low blood sugar or hypoglycemia, which can cause periods of low energy, nervousness or weakness and sweating. It phases on and off, which is why it is called "hunger attacks." It shows, in preference to starvation.

ches, which do so rapidly, often smooths out these ups and downs in the amount of sugar in the blood and prevents the trouble.

And we cannot ignore the possibility that narcolepsy is causing the abnormal sleepiness. There are other possibilities which only your physician can detect.

Thus when you encounter such difficulties in reducing, the wise course is to consult your doctor. Reducing just isn't always simple!

Dr. Dr. Molner: I am 19 and concerned about a gradually developing protrusion or hump at the neck region and vertebral column. It is painful occasionally, and prevents me from wearing some types of clothes. Would excessive bending when doing homework cause this? Could an orthopedist operate to straighten this deformity? What M.T.P. do I help myself? MISS M.T.P.

Slumping (whether or while doing homework or anything else) can contribute to this sort of thing, but your description makes yours sound like something more than that.

You should have an orthopedist in reducing, and without delay. The longer a spinal curvature remains uncorrected, the harder it is to treat, and in time can be beyond correction. Don't wait.

NOTE TO "KNEE-KNOCKERS"
At 16 your knee structure is pretty well fixed, and neither medicine nor exercise can alter your plight. The only possibility is surgery, but this is costly and time consuming, so you and an orthopedic surgeon would have to decide whether it would be worth the price.

WASHINGTON CALLING

You Can't Love Man Who's 10 Ft. Tall

By GORDON DONALDSON

WASHINGTON — The picture of Lyndon Johnson at his daughter Luci's wedding — a modest, retiring, harassed father of the bride — did the president's popularity rating some good at a time when good was badly needed.

The image of the Lord of the Great Society taking a back seat at the enormous wedding which he hadn't wanted but had to pay for aroused some sympathy.

For three years everything had gone Johnson's way on the home front. The Democratic Party, Congress, even the economy were firmly under his thumb.

TOO TALL
He was too successful to be popular. You can't love a man 10 feet tall.

But by Luci's wedding day, one columnist noted: "Things were getting to the point where a citizen could commiserate a bit with the president, even if it wasn't possible to work up a good cry."

Since then the 10-foot LBJ has continued to shrink back towards his natural six foot three.

In one week, organized labor pulled a rug from under him and big business rushed in to clobber him as he fell.

He broke into prime television time to announce that he'd settled the airline mechanics' strike which grounded 60 per cent of commercial aircraft.

Two days later the mechanics unsettled it by voting against his proposal.

VIOLATED GUIDEPOSTS

The steel firms observed the pay increase Johnson had approved violated the wage-price guideposts under which both labor and management are supposed to hold down their demands to prevent inflation.

So big steel rammed through a price increase. The president lamented, but decided there was nothing he could do about it.

At the same time the housewives were nagging about rising food prices; the Republicans were rolling up their artillery for an election year assault and Negroes and whites were rioting in the cities. The myth of infallibility was fading. The cocktail circuit carried whispers that LBJ might not run in 1968 and cars appeared with bumper stickers reading "Kennedy-Fulbright in '68."

SUCCESSOR

Senator Robert Kennedy is now voted the Democrat most likely to succeed LBJ and Sen. J. William Fulbright the most effective and wounding critic of his Viet Nam policy.

The idea of a change in the Democratic leadership so soon is far-fetched but not so outrageous as it was a year ago. Johnson is now all but committed to win the war in Viet Nam but is not doing so. His military men tell him bombs won't do the job — it will take 750,000 troops to end the war in five years.

So far Johnson is prepared to invest 400,000 troops and a garden of roses forecasts.

By 1968 even Viet Nam may be overshadowed by the crisis in the American cities. Although Johnson has done more for civil rights than any president since Lincoln, the race problem explodes in his face, night after night in city after city.

Having achieved about as much civil rights legislation as it could hope for, the civil rights movement has fallen apart. Extremists who demand "black power" and rioters want only chaos are taking over.

UNSAFE CITIES

The Negro ghettos are expanding as whites flee to the suburbs. The big cities are becoming economically unviable and physically unsafe.

The problem of crime in the streets is linked to the race problem by the way theft is linked to poverty. Barry Goldwater who tried to exploit it in the 1964 campaign, now says Johnson is getting into such a fix that any Republican — even Goldwater — could defeat him in 1968.

Nobody really believes this, but another staid and more skillful Republican could certainly dent him.

American inventor Thomas A. Edison applied for a patent for his motion picture camera 75 years ago today—in 1891—and the age of the movies began. Although earlier versions of the kinoscope had been developed in Europe and America in the 19th century, Edison began research for a better model in 1887.

He soon built a camera which used a new type of photograph film produced by George Eastman. Although the first model lacked projection and lasted only 13 seconds, several features of them are still standard today. After it was patented, Edison's invention stood idle in his laboratory until its first public appearance on Broadway, New York City, in 1894—the beginning of the commercial history of the motion picture. Edison's invention served to bring genuine action into the graphic arts.

CANADA'S STORY

Nanaimo's Wealth Hidden From U.S.

By BOB BOWMAN

Nanaimo, the attractive, progressive city on Vancouver Island, was once deliberately hidden from the world, or its commercial possibilities were. The Hudson's Bay Company knew as early as 1826 that there were coal deposits in the Nanaimo area, but kept them as secret as possible so Vancouver Island would not fall into the hands of the U.S.A.

The boundary between the U.S.A. and what is now western Canada was not fixed until 1846. There was a strong movement in the U.S.A. to take over the entire Pacific coast all the way to Alaska. One of the slogans was "American for the Americans." Another was "fifty-four forty or fight" which meant that the British should be driven from the Pacific coast.

Lord Ashburton had negotiated a boundary treaty from the Bay of Fundy to Manitoba in 1842, but found that feelings were too inflamed to try to extend the arrangement farther west. The Hudson's Bay Company knew that Vancouver Island would be a greater prize than ever if the news of the coal deposits leaked out.

Finally the Oregon Boundary Treaty was signed in 1846 because a war between the U.S.A. and Mexico was imminent, and the U.S.A. could not afford to be involved in another conflict with Britain. The western boundary was continued along the 49th parallel dipping south to give Britain all of Vancouver Island.

Once the deal had been settled Governor Douglas took steps to develop the area, and the Hudson's Bay Company took possession of the Nanaimo Coal Field on August 24, 1852. They involved an area of 2,200 acres. The first miners were from Staffordshire, England, and arrived in 1853. In those days B.C. employees were paid seventeen pounds a year along with food and lodging.

A great future was predicted for Nanaimo. It was called "the Newcastle of the Pacific" and had enough coal to supply a merchant fleet trading with India, China and Japan.

Two Nation Nonsense

(Calgary Herald)

The purpose of next year's Centennial celebrations is to commemorate a historic milestone in Canada's history as a nation—not two nations but one nation, whole and indivisible.

Any Centennial observance which does not honor the concept of single nationhood is unacceptable.

Therefore, a group of narrowly-oriented Quebec university students should not be permitted to get away with the outrageous price they have set on their participation in the Second Century Week planned for next March by Alberta university students.

What the Union Generale des Etudiants du Quebec demands is that it be permitted to provide 50 per cent of the delegates to the cultural part of this festival in recognition of the "two equal nations" theory of Confederation.

This theory is totally invalid. It has no historical basis. It is a delusion of extreme Quebec nationalism, and, regrettably, it has been given further nurture by some frightened and misguided pockets of English-Canadian thought.

The idea of Second Century Week as a welder of Canadian unity and understanding is a good one. But to accept the terms of the Quebec university students can only result in further disunity.

And yet, there is some evidence that the Alberta organizers of this festival are prepared to knuckle under and capitulate to the Quebec terms. Mr. Bob Martin, the University of Calgary's festival chairman, hastens to affirm that "we are recognizing the two-nation concept only to the extent that 50 per cent of those students attending the Second Century Week seminar will be coming from Quebec."

What sort of tortured rationalization is this? What the Quebec students clearly want, in setting these terms of representation, is a concession that their "two nation" theory is a valid one.

Supposing it was valid (which it isn't), how is it that their group is only requesting a $12,000 grant from the Quebec government for this $280,000 project while the Alberta government and Centennial Commission governments have already pledged $80,000 each?

The Quebec students may want equal rights in the sense of 50 per cent representation as their price for participating, but in the next breath they think their province's financial commitment should be less than five per cent of the total cost. This is the sort of twisted logic which shows up the ludicrousness of their position.

In any event, the only basis on which the Alberta organizers of this festival should wish their fellow students from Quebec to participate is on the straight basis of plain, unhyphenated Canadianism. Any abdication of this principle is an act of appeasement to forces which could destroy this country, and if such a capitulation takes place, the Centennial Commission and the Alberta government should withdraw their financial assistance for this project.

LETTER TO EDITOR

NO DUPLICATION

Sir: March is the traditional month for Red Cross financial campaigns and publicity.

In order to cut down on the number of appeals, the local branch of the Red Cross has joined the Community Chest, and have asked the city council not to allow any other organization to take over and canvass the city for funds in the month of March in future years, as that would defeat the purpose of the Red Cross joining the Chest.

There will therefore be no canvass for Red Cross funds made by the Kelowna and District Branch of Red Cross in the month of March, 1967, or in later years as long as it is a part of the Community Chest. The Chest will provide the Red Cross with its share of operating funds for 1967 out of donations received by the Chest in the campaign which is to open on October 3rd this year.

It is desirable that all friends of Red Cross should know that there will be no duplication of campaigns and we hope and trust that the full amount of contributions normally given to Red Cross will be added to their donations to Community Chest this fall.

Yours truly,

Registry Seeks Rare Dishes Mates Discontinued Patterns

TORONTO (CP)—For people who a few years ago bought an "open pattern" china service and now find the pattern has been discontinued, there is hope of finding those rare pieces through the Old China Registry.

The registry is operated by Toronto housewife Eva O'Leary who started the business last year as a service for friends. She started looking for pieces of the discontinued patterns in antique shops, but had little luck.

"It took some time to realize that the patterns seldom, if ever, turn up in antique shops," she said.

Then she started scanning newspaper ads and eventually to advertise for missing patterns.

Mrs. O'Leary confines herself to bringing together, by letter, the person in need with the person able to meet the need.

She looks for only Aynsley, Wedgwood, Minton, Royal Doulton, Royal Worcester, Haviland and Elite patterns, "because these were the lines most asked for."

Since March, 1965, she has had more than 1,000 letters, from across Canada and the U.S., asking for discontinued patterns. She says she has been able to fill more than 10 per cent of the requests so far.

Student-Patients At Hospital Given 'Best Care' In Canada

EDMONTON (CP)—Michael, brown-eyed and pensive, is 10 years old and looks younger. His home is Old Crow, a remote Indian settlement on the Yukon's northern fringe. Because he has severe arthritis, Michael is probably one of the best-cared-for children in Canada.

As a student-patient at the $3,500,000 Glenrose School Hospital in Edmonton, Michael has had the benefit of all the medical treatment a team of Edmonton doctors and therapists can devise, and the special education services of the Edmonton public school board, in a setting made possible by the substantial resources of the Alberta government.

His arms and legs encased in splints, Michael goes to school by wheelchair in the bright new building which is home, hospital, playground and schoolroom to him. His classrooms are specially-designed, broad-loomed and color-keyed, with desks built so wheelchairs will fit under them.

He swims in a regulation pool with below-water bars to assist him, suns himself on a patio, goes to barbecues in a treed courtyard, has meals in a bamboo-decorated dining room, and sleeps in a study-bedroom.

In September, about 60 other physically handicapped children between five and 17 years old and 40 who are emotionally disturbed will join Michael in the Glenrose's first full operating year.

Michael was one of the youngsters in a year-old pilot project, in which the Glenrose tested its aim of giving the chance they missed to children whose handicap had prevented them getting an education.

Premier Manning called it "the boldest, most far-reaching program of its kind ever attempted in Canada" when he announced plans for the Glenrose eight years ago.

People connected with the hospital and others who know it by reputation believe it is still that, thanks largely to the government's generous approach to its design and execution.

Concerned by the lack of suitable schooling for children with severe handicaps, the Alberta department of education launched the Glenrose idea. It is classed as a hospital partly because matching federal grants are available for hospitals though not for schools.

Many Kelowna Guests Attend Runzer-Heinzman Wedding

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church in North Kamloops was decorated with baskets of white and gold gladioli on August 6 at 11 a.m., when Sandra Marlene Heinzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Rudolph Heinzman of North Kamloops became the bride of James Allan Runzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Joseph Runzer of Kelowna.

Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was His Excellency Bishop Harrington of Kamloops assisted by Rev. Father Martin of Kelowna and Rev. Father Guinan of Peachland. The soloist, Beth Christianson of Vancouver, sang the "Ave Maria" accompanied by Mrs. Riederer of Kamloops at the organ.

The radiant bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a full length gown fashioned by herself with a bodice of French lace featuring a rounded neckline and elbow-length sleeves. Her full gathered skirt of "port de charm" was enhanced by a train of the same material edged with lace appliques and attached by a waistline belt. A wedding ring band of French lace held her three-tiered scalloped edge veil of white nylon tulle in place, and she wore a single strand of pearls, a gift from the groom. Her bouquet was of pink roses and white lilies interspersed with pink satin ribbon.

MAID OF HONOR

Miss Jo-Anne Jarrett of Victoria, the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sheila Heinzman, sister of the bride, were charming in identical floor-length dresses of turquoise and mauve chiffon over turquoise taffeta, fashioned by the bride and styled with high empire waists and elbow-length sleeves. They wore white gloves and wedding band headpieces of chiffon and taffeta, and they carried bouquets of white gladioli.

Attending the groom were Laverne Macdonnell of Prince Rupert and Jerry Runzer of Kelowna, cousin of the groom, and ushering the guests to their seats were John Weisbeck of Kelowna and Ronald Lancour of Kamloops.

RECEPTION HELD

The reception was held at Stockman's Hotel where the mother of the bride received wearing a two-piece French knit suit complemented with a white satin hat, white accessories and a corsage of white gladioli. The groom's mother, who assisted her in receiving the guests, chose a jacket dress of teal pink nylon wool embroidery over organza, a wide brimmed pink hat, pink accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The toast to the bride, proposed by Arthur Jeffery of Kamloops, was ably answered by the groom, and the best man,

Vietnamese Prostitutes Must Go Government Plans Segregation

SAIGON (Reuters)—The South Viet Nam government intends to abolish prostitution and close down bars and dance halls says Social Welfare Minister Tran Ngoc Liang.

The government intends to remove prostitutes to "recretional centres" where they will be taught "more decent if less pleasurable and lucrative livelihoods," the English-language Saigon Post says.

Leing told a dinner Monday night prostitution was a well-organized industry run by companies with head offices, branch offices and private cars for transporting "flower seekers" to "live flowers."

He said concentration of prostitutes into specific areas for re-education would safeguard public health and security and prevent more people being drawn into the world's oldest profession.

The prostitution problem, he added, stems from the social upheavals of the war, which brought large numbers of refugees into the cities and insufficient education.

Observers here, however, recalled the ill-fated attempts of the Ngo Dinh Diem regime to curb immorality—moves which only served to alienate the ousted president and his family from the people of Saigon.

Since the fall of Diem in 1963, bars and dance halls have boomed in the city, mainly because of the massive influx of American forces, and the rows of bars in the main streets now employ thousands of bar-girls.

Christie Roberts, a newcomer to the district, proprietor of the Green Star Rock Shop on Highway 97, has made and donated a rockwood table for the Centennial Committee, to be drawn for at a future date.

The WA will hold a Tupperware party at the Rutland Centennial Park Hall Sept. 7 at 10 a.m., open to the public, and refreshments will be served under the auspices of the Centennial WA.

Rev. Arthur Mundy has been absent from the district for the past 10 days, acting as director of the United Church camp at Mabel Lake, in the North Okanagan. Miss Linda Cross and Miss Marlene Hallman have also attended as senior and junior councillors respectively. They returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnson of Vancouver have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bleasdale.

Mrs. B. Farrants returned home this past week from an extended visit to relatives in eastern Canada and U.S. points.

Visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gray have been their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. P. Dohan and family, who have returned from Montreal after residing there for some 10 months, and have now returned to Vancouver to live.

Rev. R. S. Leitch of Kelowna conducted the service on Sunday morning at the Rutland United Church, in the absence of Rev. Arthur Mundy.

Dr. G. P. Harrison says therapeutic abortion is widely practised in Canada today without recognition of the law.

But with legalized abortions all these operations, which now are in the realm of medical consideration, would come under legal scrutiny, he says.

"And how can the law decide when an abortion is necessary if the medical profession itself is not in agreement?" he asks.

At present, Dr. Harrison said, "the patient and society are protected by the responsibility and conscientiousness of the physician, helped perhaps a little by the fact that abortion is illegal."

He says that in countries where abortion is legal, women sometimes have as many as three abortions in two years.

His solution would be to attach the problem where it begins at conception with greater sexual responsibility and wider dissemination of birth control information and devices.

ANN LANDERS

Creepy But Not Against The Law

Dear Ann Landers: A man sold my husband two cemetery plots complete with a marker for our names. The salesman told my husband he could get a special price on some fancy stone cut work if my husband wanted our names put on now. Over my objections my husband told the man to go ahead.

We now own two cemetery lots and a double headstone with our names on it. I hate the idea that our graves are waiting for us. Instead of the "peace of mind" which the salesman promised, it is making me sick. What do you suggest?—NOT READY YET

Dear Not Ready: I checked around, hoping I could tell you it is illegal to engrave the names of living people on headstones. Sorry but it's not against the law.

It is a creepy, however, and I do hope your husband will agree to remove the headstone and keep it in somebody's garage or tool shed.

Dear Ann Landers: We are seven teen-age girls who did a real dumb thing and now we need some advice—and fast.

Last night we were discussing sex and decided to make it a frank "tell-all" session. Well, all of us talked freely. I'm sure some of the girls told more than actually happened because they didn't want to look like goody-goodies. I am one who made up some things. I'm considered sophisticated and I didn't want to let them down.

After about an hour of "truth" came out, my brother walked in with his tape recorder. He wants $25 within three weeks from each one of us or he plays the tapes for his friends and various parents.

It would be worth $25 to me to be free of this worry. I would like to know how you feel about this. I feel as if I do. I wish your advice, please. TALKED TOO MUCH

Dear Talked: People who stand still for blackmail are never free. If your brother would pull such a stunt, he

You Like Your Facial Shape But What Shape Is It In?

OTTAWA (CP) — If you don't like the shape your face is in, find out what shape it is, says a Paris makeup expert.

Look at your jawline, says Paul Flaubert, consultant for an international makeup firm. The shape of the jaw determines whether your face is round, square, oval or pointed.

Once you figure that out, you'll know what to do with your eyebrows — your most important feature.

A trim, dark-haired, 31-year-old bachelor, Mr. Flaubert began his career eight years ago putting heavy stage makeup on opera stars. Now he owns beauty schools in Europe and makes up designers' models for fashion showings.

In the last six years he has toured Scandinavia, Asia, Australia and North America, telling women what to do with their faces in English, French, German, Swedish and Danish. He finds the same problems whether he's meeting delicate Thai teenagers or fiery Spanish beauties.

"Some are too lazy to use the right makeup and some use too much. Makeup should be a veil, not a mask."

But back to the eyebrows. "I call them the key of the face."

VARY THE SLANT
For a round or square face the highest part of the brow arch should be dead centre.

If your face is pointed or oval, brows should slant up to the highest point at the ends.

Rouge on a round face should shade near the nose and down along the line from the mouth. On a pointed or oval face rouge should be kept away from the nose, high on the cheekbone back to the temple.

To get a steady curve when applying eyeliner, lay a hand mirror flat on your dressing table and look down into it. "You can see what you're doing and your eyelid doesn't flicker."

Brown eyes should forget about bright blue shadow. Blue, grey or green eyes can wear almost any color. "But if they are very light, I find black liner too strong. It makes them look like cat's eyes."

For daytime, Mr. Flaubert suggests white shadow on the bone under the brow. For evening, he advises combinations such as almond green under the brow near the nose, and pink beginning under the middle of the brow and shaded out to the end.

"That's a contrasting effect, rather than a shadow, which is especially good on brown eyes. I like smoke grey with pink as well, but not blue. That's too much of a contrast."

False eyelashes are definitely part of the effect, even in daytime if they are properly trimmed.

"Some women feel naked when they take off their false eyelashes, so they wear one pair all the time and add another layer for evening."

Teen-agers should learn a beauty routine along with their geometry and ancient history, he says. A girl of 14 should use cleansing milk and toning lotion, medicated if necessary, and special creams for acne problems.

Mr. Flaubert says makeup should be taught in school. "After all, women wear it all the time. Why don't they talk about it? What's the difference between painting on a piece of paper and painting on a face?"

The consultant says there should be no op-art effects in a daytime face.

"A young working girl needs some good eye makeup, protective lotion, rouge in the right places, light lipstick and some powder on her nose."

If she's too heavy-handed with the jars and tubes, she'll suffer. "Men don't talk about a good makeup. They talk about sports or cars. But a bad makeup—they talk about it."

Mr. Flaubert stresses the importance of thinking beautiful.

"When a woman starts to have her own personality, then she is beautiful. She may be at her peak in her 30s or 40s."

"Women shouldn't be scared to get older. They should think 'I have achieved something in my life. I have learned to grow old.' I think that's a quality of mature beautiful women."

Wives Of Selfish U.K. Husbands Don't Have Any Recourse In Law

LONDON (AP) — Britain's small but dedicated Married Women's Association (MWA) has fought for 28 years to bring economic equality between man and wife.

It has had a good many setbacks and a few successes. But its chairman and founder, Joan Frances, thinks the day is not far off when the British housewife will be part owner of her husband's pay cheque.

The housewife's complaint, Mrs. Frances said, arises from the fact that her economic rights are based on a case law handed down in 1600.

"The law says husbands don't maintain their wives over necessities (must maintain the necessities for their wives)," she said. "This means the married women has the right only to bed and board. It leaves the wives whose husbands are selfish without recourse to law."

Mrs. Frances is the widow of a banker. She became interested in women's rights while working for the League of Nations in Geneva and founded the Married Women's Association in 1938.

The organization's goal, she said, is not a strict community property law such as in California but rather "an equal partnership in the wealth a family accumulates."

"We want it written into law that a wife is entitled to half the family savings," she said. "We want to establish a spouse's right, when deserted, to the marital home. . . . We want the law to recognize the housewife as part owner of the man's pay packet."

The MWA — membership 2,000 — lobbies on behalf of Britain's 16,000,000 married women.

The association petitions each parliamentary candidate at election time to recognize the right of its cause. Mrs. Frances edits a monthly newsletter and corresponds with government officials and distressed housewives.

BUDGET IS SMALL
President of the group is Vera Brittain, a writer, and policy is set at a monthly meeting of the 15-member executive. Last year's budget was £240 ($1,920) — raised by a 10-shilling ($1.50) annual membership fee.

Membership is not larger. Mrs. Frances said, because many happily married women feel it would be disloyal to their husbands to join. And unhappily married women are often too occupied with their family troubles to take interest.

This Stock Broker Takes Stock To Find Her Sex An Advantage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edmont-born Phyllis S. Peterson works in a world dominated by men but the pretty stock broker doesn't believe her femininity is a disadvantage.

Nor, she says, does being a female in the brokerage world give her an advantage.

"Men just accept me for what I am—a stock broker," said Mrs. Peterson, a general partner in Sade (pronounced sayd) and Co. "I think my clients just want someone who can help them and they don't really care if I'm a woman, as long as I know what I'm doing."

Mrs. Peterson graduated from American University here and received a master's degree in business administration from the University of Richmond. She lives with her husband, now with J. D. Marsh Associates, Washington financial advisers, and two children, Phyllis, 19, and Peri, 17, in Arlington, Va. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Smyth, and her two brothers, Frank and Colby, live at 3301 N. Burnaby Street, Vancouver.

Last fall Mrs. Peterson became one of the first two women to be made members of the American Stock Exchange in its 116-year history. The other was Julia Montgomery Walsh, general partner of Ferris and Co., also of Washington.

ELECTED TO PBW
Earlier in 1965, Mrs. Peterson was elected to membership in the Philadelphia - Baltimore-Washington Stock Exchange, first woman to hold a PBW seat in its 175-year history.

In an interview in her downtown Washington office, Mrs. Peterson said she believes men have accepted women in the investment field and suggested that other females make it a profession.

There are only 36 women who are general partners of New York Stock Exchange member firms and 19 women who are voting stockholders in member firms.

"I think men are accused falsely of not wanting women around in the business world."

"When I was interviewed for my seat on the exchange, I was scared stiff. But a few minutes after I was in the room, the men who were to question me put me at ease. They were all considerate, and we had a jolly good time."

Mrs. Peterson got her inspiration to enter the investment field in 1953 when her husband, Sumner, then an air force lieutenant colonel, inherited a portfolio from his family.

"He was too busy to be bothered with them. I found that keeping track of the securities and the developments affecting them was fascinating, so I took care of them."

STARTED IN 1960
Mrs. Peterson joined Sade and Co. as an account executive in 1960 and became a general partner in 1963. In addition to handling customers' accounts, she is the partner in charge of the company's Charlottesville, Va., office.

She became interested in membership in the American Exchange shortly after she became a partner in Sade.

"I wanted a seat because I became interested in all other aspects of the brokerage firm other than selling."

"It's also a matter of achievement to me. A seat on the exchange is one of the top honors a person can get in the profession."

Mrs. Peterson said, however, she hasn't thought after seeking a seat on the New York Stock Exchange, which does not currently have any women members, nor any applications by women before it.

"I haven't sat down and considered it," hating that business might be a factor.

A seat on the American Stock Exchange costs $100,000 while a New York Stock Exchange membership costs some $260,000.

A graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music in Boston and for three years a violinist with the New England Symphony, Mrs. Peterson is said to be one of the highest paid women in the U.S. She just smiles when asked about it.

"That's hard to say," declining to estimate her annual income. "I don't really know what other women in the country earn."

Heavenly Peace Square Goes -Now It's 'The East Is Red'

ROBERT POPLIN of Haslingden, England, RAN 50 MILES IN 9 1/2 HOURS WEARING WOODEN CLOGS WEIGHING 3 1/2 POUNDS - AND CARRYING 20 POUNDS ON HIS BACK FOR THE FINAL 5 MILES (1878)

PEKING (Reuters) — The Communist Chinese capital's famous Tien An Men (Heavenly Peace) Square was renamed Dongfang Hong (The East Is Red) Square today as thousands of organized youths continued to hold sway over the city.

The youths, officially-backed by the Communist party in their campaign to rid Peking of Western influences, also took over, apparently permanently, the churches serving the capital's few Christians.

Red flags fluttered from the dome and western tower of the Italian-style Nantang (South Cathedral), the main Catholic centre here.

The youths, known as the Red Guards, covered the walled cathedral compound with posters denouncing old and foreign traditions.

Some posters were covered with biblical pictures used in the cathedral—scenes of the nativity, of Christ teaching, and various saints—crossed out with heavy black brushstrokes and characters to indicate such things were henceforth not allowed.

Long-haired youths in the capital were trimming their hair in public under the stern eye of the Red Guards.

WINDOWS SHUTTERED
Red Guards refused foreign correspondents access to the cathedral grounds. From across the street it was possible to see that some of the building's windows were shuttered.

East Is Red, the new name of Tien An Men Square, is the title of a Chinese Communist anthem now being played and sung here publicly — far more often than the national anthem.

The campaign to oppose bourgeois tendencies took some unexpected forms.

A poster outside a depot for pedicabs—tricycles pedalled by a driver with a seat behind for his passenger—says these may still be hired, but the passenger should pedal himself while the driver sits in the seat.

Several flower stores closed this week and the Red Guards proclaimed that having flowers in the house is not revolutionary.

Stamp stores were closed with the declaration that philately is a bourgeois pastime.

TERRORIZE PEKING
Meanwhile, although many people seemed unconcerned by the happenings, some showed frightened expressions in their faces and observers said there was little doubt the Red Guards were terrorizing some Peking inhabitants.

'Shoot-To-Kill' Order Given In Hunt For Quebec Escapee

MONTREAL (CP) — Police, who have orders to "shoot to kill," are combing local underworld hideouts in search for Andre Daoust, 24-year-old escaped convict.

Inspector Paul Gagnon of the Quebec Provincial Police holdup squad said Monday night the fugitive who escaped from custody twice this summer and who has vowed never to be taken alive probably has made his way back to Montreal.

Daoust shot his way out of a police ambush last Friday in dense woods near La Tuque, Que., 140 miles northeast of Montreal.

A full investigation has been launched by the QPP into Daoust's escape. He blasted his way out of a police ambush at his cottage and shot it out with policemen armed with machine guns, rifles and tear gas.

Inspector Gagnon described Daoust as an extremely dangerous man who is capable of killing anyone who gets in his way.

The hunt for Daoust, who fled Montreal's St. Luc hospital in June after being transferred from penitentiary for treatment of an injured hand, continued Monday near La Tuque.

After eluding police in Montreal, Daoust was arrested by the RCMP last month in Bathurst, N.B., but he escaped from Gloucester County jail by slugging a jailer with a lead pipe.

Police received a report Sunday night from a man that Daoust commandeered their car in La Tuque and forced them to drive him to Boniface, Que., 70 miles northeast of Montreal.

Daoust was serving a four-year term in Montreal's St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary for the $11,000 robbery of a caisse populaire at St. Leonard, Que., on May 25, 1965.

The bidding:
South West North East

Opening lead—six of hearts. There was no use ever asking Sylvia why she had made a certain bid, or why she had made a certain play, even though the bid or play might be the kind that would cause most players to begin to question their own sanity.

Sylvia had her own ideas about how to play the game, and anyone who attempted to question her at length along rational lines would inevitably wind up that much closer to the booby hatch.

Her thoughts at the bridge table followed what seemed to her to be logical lines, yet, at the same time, these thoughts appeared to others in the club so far removed from reality that she was able to establish firmly and quickly her reputation as the club's zaniest player.

Naturally, Sylvia's perplexing pyrotechnics produced weird results in some hands, but not all of these reacted to her disadvantage. Occasionally she would score an unexpected triumph by her methods, and it was this occasional triumph which in time made her the most talked-about member of the club.

One day she was playing in the expert game and had the East hand. South was in six hearts and West led a trump. Sylvia covered the ten with the jack and declarer took the ace and played a low spade to the eight.

Of course, most players with Sylvia's hand would have taken the eight with the queen, but being Sylvia, she took it with the ace. Sylvia then led back a trump.

Apparently South was deceived by Sylvia's play of the ace because he proceeded to draw the last trump, cash the king of spades, and then lead the jack of spades.

When West followed low, Sylvia confidently discarded a club from dummy, feeling certain that Sylvia did not have the queen. He then went into a state of shock when Sylvia took the queen and wrote down 100 points on the score.

TRY AND STOP ME By Bennett Cerf

RHODE ISLAND'S Theodore Francis Green, who died recently at the age of 98, was still active in the U.S. Senate only six years before—a genial, jaunty, humor-loving, conscientious politician who believed in giving his constituents a square deal. Senator Green was still playing tennis at 88, and flirting with pretty girls at 94. He loved parties. At one Washington cocktail soiree, his hostess caught him leaving hurriedly through his date book. "Ah, Senator," she chided. "Trying to find out where you're due next, eh?" "Not at all," replied Senator Green. "I'm trying to find out where I am now."

If you expect to drive a car in England, warns an Indianapolis legislator just back from London, driving on the "wrong" side of the road is not the only thing you'll have to remember. England's signs language differs from ours. For example, "EXIT" is "WAY OUT"; "WATCH FOR FALLING ROCKS" is "LOOSE CLIPPINGS"; "DIVIDED HIGHWAY" is "DUAL CARRIAGEWAY"; "COVERPASS" is "FLYOVER"; "ROAD SHOULDER" is "VERGE"; "UNDER REPAIR" is "ROAD UP"; and "DETOUR" is "DIVERSION."

Maybe you'll see more of the countryside if you travel by rail or bus!

General Sam Houston, when served his first helping of vanilla ice cream, is reputed to have exulted, "Madam, it is not my intention to murder your hospitality, but this here pudding is frugal."

Soviet Raps U.S. Entry Into Cambodia

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia today to Keith Matthews, British charge d'affaires in Moscow, its co-chairman of the 1964 Geneva conference on Vietnam, asking it to join a Soviet call on the U.S. to stop intervening in Cambodia.

The Geneva conference ended the long French Indochina war and divided Viet Nam into its two sectors.

The Soviet draft accused the U.S. of encroaching on Cambodia's independence and territorial integrity and charged that American Air Force planes carried out provocative actions in violation of the Geneva agreements.

It said these actions were evidence that U.S. policy-makers planned to expand "aggression in Southeast Asia" and proposed that the co-chairmen should denounce "provocations by the American armed forces."

Informed observers said there was no chance that Britain would accept the document which followed similar Russian drafts rejected in the past.

20,000 Suffer Famine's Grip

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Some 20,000 persons are reported victims of a famine gripping the Indonesian island of Lombok, east of Bali.

The island's health officer, Mohammed Jusuf, appealed to the Jakarta government for emergency food and aid to help the stricken islanders.

Unless help comes soon, he warned, hundreds of thousands will be victims of malnutrition.

Interviewed by the official news agency Antara today, Jusuf said villages along the southern coast were worst hit, but he feared the whole island would need help soon.

The 4,000,000 inhabitants of Lombok, mainly fishermen, have suffered the collective evils of drought, famine, smallpox and malaria this year.

It says Kennedy will co-ordinate his appearances with his brother, Senator Edward M. Kennedy (Dem. Mass.).

Stops on behalf of these candidates were reported on Kennedy's list:

Governor Edmund G. Brown of California; G. Mennen Williams, running for the Senate in Michigan; Senator Paul M. Douglas of Illinois, Representative John J. Gilligan of Ohio, Senator Jennings Randolph of West Virginia and Kenneth M. Curtis, seeking the governorship in Maine.

Epic In Alps Sees 2 Saved

CHAMONIX, France (Reuters) — An epic alpine rescue of two West German mountaineers trapped for nearly a week on the 12,300-foot Alguille du Druc ended Monday night in the safety of a bivouac.

A two-day descent through snow, ice and mist from a ledge where Heinz Ramisch, 23, and Hermann Mueller, 25, were perched on a sheer cliff, face brought them to a spot where helicopters could pick them up.

A nine-man rescue team took Ramisch and Mueller down the slippery rocks. More than 60 mountaineers participated in the rescue operation, one of the biggest in the French Alps for years.

Left behind on the mountain was the body of a West German rescuer, Wolfgang Egle, 25, strangled by his climbing rope when he fell while trying to reach his trapped compatriots.
